MACHANOOGA

The Machanooga Team

Lily Dropkin, Co-Director

Betty Golub, Co-Director

Jan Suhrbier, Administrator

There is a wonderful custom that began in Eastern Europe that involves study and honey. The Alef Bet was written in honey on the child's tablet--no, not an Ipad. The child would then lick the honey off so they would be reminded that the study of Torah is sweet. Likewise, when you climb aboard our Machanooga choo-choo you will experience the joy and sweetness of Jewish learning. Every Sunday morning our children from B'nai Zion and Mizpah congregation come together as one Jewish community to see old friends, make new ones, and study together.

Our morning begins with shira-music led by either Rabbi Tendler or Rabbi Lewis. Our students sing and dance to kick off their studies. Our curriculum, Shalom Learning, offers our students the opportunity to learn Jewish values so we can implement these values into our lives.

What makes Machanooga different from a more traditional learning model is that we offer a more experiential, hands-on approach to learning. Twenty-first century learners have the opportunity to utilize all modes of media to enhance their studies. We end our morning with our chugim. Our students select an activity of their choosing.

In short, what makes Machanooga unique is that we bring in different modalities of learning, so every child will excel, whether it is in Hebrew language, art, dramatics or writing. Our students will celebrate Global Day of Jewish Learning in November and collect canned goods for our Chanukah Can-struction.

This month we are celebrating the holiday of Simchat Torah-rejoicing in the Torah. "Turn it and turn it and turn it again!" It is always a marvel to me that no matter how many times we read the chapters of the Torah, there is always something new to learn, and so it is with Machanooga. B'Shalom, Betty, Lily and Jan

Machanooga Chug Blocks for the 2018-2019 Year

Everyone has a passion, interest, or skill. Whether your strengths be math, art, music, science, cooking, drama, dancing, gardening, sports, history, photography, technology, yoga, meditation. The possibilities are endless, but we need your help to ensure that Machanooga thrives as a community-wide endeavor and opportunity.

Our new Sunday educational initiative is excited to offer at least 2 parallel chugim (elective group activities) for our kids' learning and enjoyment. We are looking for volunteers from the community to consider what you do professionally or what you are passionate about and offer your time for 45 minutes in 2 to 4 week blocks. We truly believe that the best way to learn is to teach which, with the help of you as a volunteer, translates into Machanooga being an incredible opportunity for our young in age to our young at heart.

Each chug will consist of a 2 to 4 week block (can be non-consecutive) with classes lasting 45 minutes (11:15 to 12:00).

Bride for One Night - Talmud Tales

Tuesday, October 30 at 11:00 am

Ruth Calderon offers a fascinating window into some of the liveliest and most colorful stories in the Talmud, drawing us into the lives of such characters as the woman who risks her life for a sister suspected of adultery; a humble schoolteacher who rescues his village from drought; and a wife who dresses as a prostitute to seduce her pious husband in their garden. Breathing new life into an ancient text, A Bride for One Night offers a surprising and provocative read, both for anyone already intimate with the Talmud or for anyone interested in one of the most influential works of Jewish literature.

Wednesday Morning Mussar

Wednesdays at 7:30 a.m.

Mussar is a 1,000-year-old tradition of Jewish study in which the focus is practical application of our sacred teachings into the ethics by which we guide our lives. We use teachings from Alan Morinis' book, Every Day, Holy Day, as launching off points to discuss Jewish values and to explore texts from Talmud and other books of Jewish law, theology, and practice. Bring your coffee, a bagel or nosh if you like, and let Torah provide you extra energy for the rest of the day.

Lunch and Learn

Thursdays from 12:15-1:15

Bring your own lunch as Rabbi Lewis presents teachings on seasonal topics: upcoming holidays, world events, or as guided by the interest of participants. These sessions will be a pleasant way to see Temple friends during the week and to explore deeper understandings of Judaism together.

Honoring Eva Schloss

The Jewish community of Chattanooga has the honor of hosting Eva Schloss at a beautiful event taking place on October 14th. We encourage everyone to attend and let friends, coworkers and family know about it too. In honor of this event, I will share with you an inspiring story I heard over the High Holidays.

Wolf Fischelberg and his 12-year-old son Leo were walking among the barracks of the sector for privileged people in Bergen-Belsen. They were trying to barter some cigarettes for bread when a stone flew over their heads and landed at their feet. It was clear that this was aimed at father and son.

"Just another jealous angry man," thought Wolf, but then his eye caught something strange on the stone. Looking around to ensure all was clear, he bent down to find a small gray note wrapped around it. Wolf slipped the note into his pocket, reading it only later when in the safety of his barrack. It was written in Hebrew by a Dutch Jew named Hayyim Borack, saying he was fortunate to have obtained a shofar and it was in his possession. If the Chassidic Jews from the Polish transports wished to use the shofar for Rosh Hashanah services, Borack could smuggle the shofar in one of the coffee cauldrons used in the morning distribution. In doing so they would lose a cauldron of coffee, for the shofar would be covered with a minimal amount of coffee, just enough to conceal it.

A vote was taken among the Polish Jews, and at the time and place specified in the note, a stone once more made its way over the electrified barbed-wire. They agreed to give up their morning coffee ration on the first day of Rosh Hashanah, for a chance to hear the shofar.

The smuggling of the shofar was a success. But now a new problem arose. To fulfill the obligation of shofar blowing, all present must clearly hear the voice of the shofar. The risk was too great. If the sounds of the shofar reached German ears, all present would pay with their lives.

A heated debate developed among the scholars in the barracks, and in the absence of books, a decision was reached to blow the shofar quietly.

As little Miriam, Wolf's daughter, listened to the quiet shofar, she hoped that it would bring down the barbed-wire fences of Bergen-Belsen, just as the great blasts of the shofar had in earlier times made the walls of Jericho come tumbling down. The service was over. Nothing had changed. The barbed wires remained fixed in their places. Only in the heart did something stir - knowledge and hope: knowledge that the muffled voice of the shofar had made a dent in the Nazi wall of humiliation and slavery, and hope that someday freedom would bring down the barbed-wire fences of Bergen-Belsen and of humanity.

Shana Tova from our Chabad family!

What a great start to Hebrew School! Rosh Hashanah! We didn't just hear the shofar being blown ... we sawed and sanded and drilled till it was a real Rosh Hashanah blowing shofar! Club Kef (Hebrew for fun)- hands on learning fun!

WRESTLING with faith

I Want to Believe, But...

- ... I struggle with contradictions between faith and science.
- ... I find it hard to believe my actions really matter to G-d.
- ... I pray to G-d, but I've never heard Him answer.
- ... Does the Bible really favor men over women and view Jews as a superior race?
- ... I don't understand how G-d could allow so much suffering.

HADASSAH NEWS

Hadassah Happenings

by Judy Sachsman
Chapter Reporter

Hadassah started off 5779 with a tour of the new Children's Hospital at Erlanger on Sunday, September 30th. Hard hats and safety vests were kindly supplied by the Erlanger construction crew, since this was still a work site. A special thank you to Jed Mescon, Erlanger Health Systems Vice President of Public Relations and Marketing, and Millie Lander, for arranging this visit.

On Sunday, October 14th a joint Hadassah-Federation program called, "Choices: A Family Affair Looks at Medicare" will be offered at 3 p.m. at the JCC. Members and their support groups who need advice (for themselves or for family members) should attend this event. Seniors are not the only ones who need this information! Christi Haustein, LMSW, Federation Social Services Director, and Edie Redish, RN, Community Nurse, will share their insights regarding making health care decisions. Both Federation personnel will be available to see individuals by appointment to discuss personal health decisions.

Barbie Potts, fresh from her Hadassah Milestone Mission, will share her experiences from the special Nurses Track Tour on Sunday, October 21st, at 1 p.m. at the home of Bev Coulter. (Please rsvp to her at (423)667-4914 or to bcoulter007@gmail.com.) This is a special "Medical Focus" for Hadassah, celebrating the mission responsible for the founding of Hadassah. The original Hadassah project in Israel was to provide medical care and a school for nursing; this should provide an exciting picture of why Hadassah was founded. A highlight of the tour, according to Barbie, was visiting the Department of Ophthalmology, which is celebrating its one-hundredth year in existence at Hadassah Medical Center.

Chattanooga's Margaritas and Mah Jongg annual membership event will be held Sunday, November 11th from 4-7 p.m. at Mizpah. One lucky prospective member will win her annual membership. Mah Jongg lessons will be available for new players and alternative games will be provided. Dana Banks and Ellyn Brooks will be hosting this exciting event.

Chattanooga welcomes Life Member Penny Wallace, transferring from Arizona; Marilyn Goler, new annual member; and Alan Wein, new Hadassah Associate. Contact Judy Sachsman for information about membership.

Hadassah enhances the health and lives of people in Israel, the United States and worldwide. By connecting and empowering Jewish women to effect change, we are the women who do. Remember each lifecycle event with membership in Hadassah.

Hadassah Southern Region Board Meeting

Dana Waxler; Ellen Hershkin, Hadassah's National President; Millie Lander; and Judy Sachsman at the Hadassah Southern Region board meeting the last week of August.

Hadassah's Outreach

- Dr Hadar Merhav, director of Hadassah Medical Organization's transplantation unit, and Dr Abed Khalaileh, director of kidney transplantation, worked together (not an uncommon partnership) in transferring a kidney from an Israeli Jewish female donor to an Israeli Arab male recipient.
- The nurse coordinator of Hadassah Medical Organization's trauma unit worked with Na'ila Hayet, an Israeli Arab nurse in charge of Hadassah's intensive care units, to create Nurses in the Middle East, a nongovernmental organization connecting nurses across boundaries and holding conferences in Jordan with participants from Israel, the Arab world and Iran.
- Hadassah Medical organization cardiologists are working with the Baruch Padeh Medical Center in Tiberias and the Israel Defense Forces' Operation Good Neighbor to treat Syrian children with serious heart defects.
